

A Review of Linac and Beam Transport Systems for Transmutation, J.-M. LAGNIEL, CEA-SACLAY -

A review of the proposed designs for high-power linacs and the special beam transport lines needed to enlarge the beam on targets is given. Both normal conducting and superconducting accelerator designs are presented and compared. RF power sources are also discussed.